

Potential Uses of Description of Relationship Between Inter/National Organization and Collegiate Chapters/Affiliates.

Sometimes individuals involved with cases or claims do not understand the relationship between the inter/national organization and collegiate chapters and affiliates (such as colonies) associated with it. This includes an understanding of what the inter/national organization does and does not do, and what it can and cannot do, either as a practical matter or as a legal matter. This document is designed to assist that education process. Possible uses of it include:

- Educating local counsel for the inter/national organization;
- A deposition preparation tool for Fraternity staff members whose depositions are taken;
- A FIPG document which can be attached to court papers as an exhibit to educate the Court and to prepare an appropriate Court record.
- A FIPG document used at trial as an exhibit to educate a jury;
- An educational tool for your governing board, local alumni volunteers and membership;
- An educational tool for college and university personnel.
